THIRTY-SIXTH YEAR

LIMA, OHIO, MONDAY, JANUARY 3, 1921

PRICE THREE CENTS

THEY ARE ALL IN NEWS OF THE DAY--DO YOU KNOW ANY OF THEM?

HIS LAST MESSAGE — Governor James M. Cox today delivered to the Ohio General Assembly his last message. It is a review of his official work.

EX-CHANCELLOR DIES — Dr. Theobald Bethman-Hollweg, the man who characterized the Belgian treaty as "a scrap of paper" while he was German chancellor died Sunday after a brief illness at his estate near Berlin.

NEW SECRETARY HERE — J. K. Johnson, new Chamber of Commerce secretary, assumed his duties today. He comes from Gloversville, N. Y., where he is credited with having made an enviable record in this line of work.

WILL BE RE-TRIED — Judge W. H. McGannon, Cleveland, must again go on trial on a charge of second degree murder.

NEW PROSECUTOR — E. T. Lippincott, prominent young attorney, became prosecutor of Allen-co today. He is a republican and was elected in the last election. He led his ticket in the great landslide which carried the G. O. P. to victory in nation, state and county.

ON WAY TO EUROPE — Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney, widow of the martyr of Cork who died after a long hunger strike for the cause of Ireland, is on her way to England after a visit in America.

HAS NEW IDEA — Mayor F. A. Burkhardt in his annual message to council threatens municipal ownership of utilities unless better service is given to Lima.

WAR BOARD VETO IS OVERRIDDEN

SENATE REPASSES FARM AID BILL

Wilson Disapproves Measure in Long Message to Solons

ADOPTED BY 53 TO 5 VOTE

Similar Action in House on Farmers' Aid Bill Expected

WASHINGTON.—(By Associated Press.)—The resolution to revive the war finance corporation was passed Monday by the senate over President Wilson's veto.

The vote was taken immediately after the president's veto message was read. Similar action by the house is expected by supporters of the resolution, which was designed as an aid to farmers and others in the present period of declining prices.

The vote to override the president was 53 to 5, or nineteen more than the required two-thirds majority.

WILSON'S MESSAGE — President Wilson's message vetoing the Grinnell resolution to revive the war finance corporation follows:

To the Senate of the United States: I am returning without my signature, senate joint resolution 212, "Joint resolution directing the war finance corporation to take certain action for the relief of the present depression in the agricultural sections of the country, and for other purposes."

The joint resolution directs the revival of the activities of the war finance corporation. This corporation is a governmental agency. Its capital stock is owned entirely by the United States. It was created during the war for war purposes. The temporary powers which it is now proposed to revive were conferred in March, 1919, to assist in necessary. In the financing of exports. The general powers of the corporation expire six months after the termination of the war, and the special powers with respect to the financing of exports expire one year after the termination of the war.

While we are technically still in a state of war, it unquestionably was presumed, when this added power was granted, that peace would have been formally proclaimed before this time and that the limitation of one year would have expired.

In May, 1920, in view of the fact that export trade had not been resumed and that exports were being privately financed in large volume, the war finance corporation, at the request of the secretary of the treasury, and with my approval, suspended the making of advances.

This resolution was passed by the congress apparently in view of the fact that the agricultural commodities, especially of agricultural commodities, countries to which certain products were customarily shipped before the war might again be enabled to resume their importation, and that European countries generally might be stimulated, with the resulting enhancement of domestic prices. I am in full sympathy with every sound proposal to promote foreign trade along sound business lines. I am not sure that the method proposed would offset the evils which, in any result or that the same or larger advantages could be secured without resort to government intervention. On the contrary, I apprehend that activities at this time would exert no beneficial influence on the situation, which improvement is sought, would raise false hopes among the

NEW COURT OPENS

Philadelphia Now Has Tribunal for Bandits Only

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — (By Associated Press.) — A new tribunal, to be known as the "bandits court," was opened Monday at city hall. Only holdup and robbery cases, of which there have been an unusually large number the last few months, will be heard.

The court was instituted at the suggestion of District Attorney Rottan, who said that it was necessary to give quick trial to bandits and that speedy justice would act as a deterrent to crime. Magistrates have been instructed to make immediate returns of holdups and robberies and the district attorney has announced that he would urge severe sentences. One of the common pleas judges will preside.

DEATH IS PROBED

Washington Importer Killed in New York City

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press.) — Formal investigation of the death of Carl Bosselman, importer of Washington, was ordered by police officials Monday following reports of the young man's father that he had been killed by a blow struck by a policeman.

Bosselman was found unconscious on sidewalk early Saturday morning and died in a hospital. His companion told his father, the latter said that Bosselman was behaving in a belligerent manner following a New Year's party, and was struck by a policeman he encountered while on his way to a hotel.

The policeman questioned by detectives, denied having struck Bosselman.

FORD PLANT ASKED

Employees Request Use of Factory During Shutdown

DETROIT.—(By Associated Press.)—A petition requesting the use of the Ford Motor Company plant here, for the manufacture of cars for employees, was being circulated among employees Monday for signature. The request proposes that the company turn over the plant to the workers during the period of the shutdown announced last week. Employees, the petition states, will agree to pay for all raw material and to return the plant in as good condition as it is at present.

The petition is being circulated by men who call themselves a "committee of Ford workers."

Officials of the plant said they had not heard of the request. All departments of the Highland Park plant were closed Monday, it was said at the plant.

CONGRESS ASKED TO PREVENT "DOCTORING" OF SICK MAN'S LIQUOR

WASHINGTON.—A bill designed to prevent the "doctoring" or adulteration of the sick man's liquor was introduced Monday by Representative Vane, Republican, of Pennsylvania. Specifically, it would stop the manufacture and sale for medicinal purposes of whiskey containing less than .5 per cent of alcohol.

In a letter to Chairman Volstead of the house judiciary committee, Mr. Vane declared that there had been wholesale violations of the medicinal provisions of the enforcement act and that great harm had resulted to patients for whom liquor had been prescribed.

STATE ASSEMBLY WARNED BY COX

Tells Solons of Tax Dangers in Parting Message

GIVES REORGANIZATION PLAN

Recommendations Submitted As Legislature Convenes

COLUMBUS.—(By Associated Press.)—The Ohio legislature which is expected to wrestle chiefly with questions pertaining to taxation, reorganization of state offices and departments and prohibition, now is formally in session. Convening at 10 o'clock, members were sworn in by Chief Justice Marshall in the house and by Justice Hough in the senate.

Of the three principal subjects expected to be considered during the session, prohibition, which has occupied the stage in Ohio assemblies for many years, was the first to come to the front. When the matter of selecting an assistant clerk of the senate came up, Senator Emmert of Cincinnati, opened an attack on J. E. Cross, caucus candidate, based upon his alleged activities in carrying the last legislature's action in ratifying the federal prohibition amendment to the secretary of state at Washington.

Senator Emmert read a copy of the report made by the committee which conducted an investigation of the affair at that time. Mr. Cross was elected, however, receiving 33 votes. The four Cincinnati members did not vote.

SPEAKERS ELECTED

This proved to be the only hitch in organization as planned by the majority caucus a few weeks ago. Rupert R. Beetham of Harrison-co. was elected speaker of the house and C. C. Crabbe of Madison-co. speaker of the senate. All other caucus selections were approved. At the senate, Frank E. Wittenborn of Akron, was elected president pro tem.

COLUMBUS.—(By Associated Press.) — The state legislature convened for a session which it is expected will be featured by the enactment of laws dealing with taxation, reorganization of state departments and enforcement of prohibition.

The Republicans, unless they become divided among themselves, will have undisputed sway in both branches, in carrying out their legislative program. Out of a total of 125 house members, the democrats have only 12, and out of a total of 37 members of the senate, James A. Reynolds, of Cleveland, is the only Democrat. This is the largest majority by which either political party ever controlled the legislature.

Not only is the legislature overwhelmingly republican, but it is rated as being "very dry" by dry leaders, who expect to encounter little or no trouble in getting thru the sort of prohibition enforcement measures they desire. This was not true of the last assembly.

Little or no attention is expected to be given by the legislative leadership to Governor Cox's message. They will wait until after Jan. 10, to begin formulation of administration laws based upon recommendations of the incoming executive, Harry L. Davis. During the present week, the legislators will merely mark time, other than transacting routine business and preparing for the inauguration.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Much of the present week will be used by members in trying for preferential committee assignments. The assignments are made by Speaker Beetham of the house and by a committee of the senate. It never has been found that everyone has

C. C. SECRETARY GOES ON JOB

J. Kennard Johnson Arrived Monday from Gloversville, N. Y.

CHILD ILL IN PENNA TOWN

Meets Old Officers and Directors and New Board Tuesday

Giving evidence of being a veritable dynamo of human energy, J. Kennard Johnson, new secretary of the chamber of commerce, was soon "up to his eyes," figuratively speaking, in affairs of detail within a short time after his arrival in Lima at 10.13 a. m. Monday, from Phoenixville, Pa., where he left Mrs. Johnson and their children at the home of Mrs. Johnson's parents, the youngest daughter, aged three, in charge of a trained nurse.

Johnson was deeply concerned over the condition of the child, but at noon Monday received a telegram stating that the little one was afflicted only by an attack of tonsillitis, and not scarlet fever, as he feared.

LEASE NEUBAUER HOME

The Johnsons' household goods are enroute from Gloversville, N. Y. to Lima, and pending the arrival of the family the new secretary will reside at the Y. M. C. A. Mrs. Johnson and children will remain in Phoenixville until a home is ready for them here. Johnson was arriving at noon Monday for a lease of the Neubauer residence, northwest corner Metcalf and Spring-sts. He stated that he expected to have his family domiciled here within two or three weeks.

When seen within an hour after his arrival in the city, a Lima News reporter, Johnson was already familiarizing himself with details of his new work, altho he was endeavoring to give all his time to disposing of personal affairs.

"I haven't had time to get my feet on the ground," Johnson said, "and am unable to give you a line on anything just now, save that I expect to have conferences with the old officers of the chamber of commerce during Monday afternoon. The first steps to be taken will be the election of new officers by the board of directors chosen for the year and the creation of a program of work. The small group plan will likely be adopted, several groups of members meeting every day for several weeks, to thoroly go over the situation."

AWAITS MEMBERS' PLANS

"It is up to the members of the organization, now 1,448 in number, to say what they want done," Johnson said, "and at this time of course I cannot state just what plan of procedure for the year will be."

Up to the noon hour Johnson had not met any of the officials of the chamber of commerce since his arrival in the city, but anticipated an assembly during the afternoon.

President George Bayly stated Monday afternoon that the old directors and officers of the chamber of commerce and the new directors will meet Secretary Johnson Tuesday evening at a 6 o'clock dinner at the Lima Club, when it is expected that officers will be elected for the year and plans perfected for the annual meeting of the members of the organization on Tuesday, January 11.

22-YEAR CAREER IN PUBLIC LIFE IS ENDED

NEW YORK — Alfred E. Smith, retiring governor of New York, ended a 22-year career in public life Monday when he shed his hat and coat in the offices of the United States Trucking Corporation and went to work as chairman of its board of directors.

The ex-governor announced he would never be a candidate for public office again.

SPENCERVILLE MAN ORDERED TO HOSPITAL

Fred Baum, 30, barber, Spencer-ville, was adjudged insane Monday and was ordered committed to the Toledo State hospital for the insane, Baum, believing he was endowed with religious powers, went about the streets of Spencer-ville shaking hands with some of his friends and slapping others in the face.

MAYOR THREATENS CITY OWNERSHIP

LARSEN IS VICE PRESIDENT LIMA LOCOMOTIVE WORKS

Chosen at Annual Meeting of Officials in New York—To Have Charge of Finances and Accounting—Is Assistant to President

As a reward for faithful service performed, L. A. Larsen, secretary and treasurer of the Lima Locomotive Works, was elected vice president in charge of finances and accounting at the annual meeting of company officials last week in New York City.

He retains his secretarial position, in addition to his duties as a vice president.

Since coming to Lima from New York City in 1918, Mr. Larsen has proved to be one of the city's most active boosters and is one of the most competent and trusted officials of the Locomotive Works.

Besides his duties at the loco, Mr. Larsen is a director of the Lima Trust Co., a director of the Y. M. C. A., and is the secretary and treasurer of the "Lima Manufacturers' Association." He is a member of several civic clubs, and in general is a human live wire.

For ten years, between 1907 and 1917, Mr. Larsen was employed by the Chicago & Great Western and the Northern Pacific railroads, with headquarters in St. Paul, Minn.

In April of 1907 he was made assistant to the vice president in charge of manufacturing of the American Locomotive Co., of New York City. In 1917 he was made assistant comptroller.

Then in December of that year his ability was foreseen by officials of the Lima Locomotive Works and he was brought here as assistant to the president. The following March he was elected as a director and a member of the executive committee and also as secretary and treasurer.

Announcement of his promotion was received at the Locomotive Works with much satisfaction. His friendship with those with whom he daily comes in contact has won for him the high esteem of all employees and associates.

No other changes in the personnel of the officers were announced.

JUDGE MCGANNON TO BE RETRIED

New Prosecutor Announces Plan to Reopen Murder Case

CLEVELAND.—(By Associated Press.)—Judge W. H. McGannon will be brought to trial a second time on charges of slaying Harold C. Kacy as soon as County Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton, who took office Monday morning, completes his study of the case, the new prosecutor announces.

Stanton will handle the trial. He will not seek the aid of Roland A. Baskin, his predecessor, who prosecuted both John W. Joyce and Judge McGannon for the Kacy killing.

Joyce was acquitted and the jury in the McGannon case disagreed Friday after nearly 48 hours' deliberation.

Stanton was reviewing the testimony in the McGannon case Monday. He could not at present set a definite date for the second trial.

INSTALL OFFICERS — Lincoln Court No. 23, Tribe of Ben Hur, will install their newly elected officers at a regular meeting Wednesday evening, January 5. Old Dekree team is requested to be present to practice for a class of new candidates to be taken in on Wednesday evening, January 12.

SAYS STREET CAR SERVICE POOR

Urges Prompt Settlement of Various Franchises

WANTS LAKES GIVEN NAMES

Annual Message Goes to Council Tonight

Holding up a threat of recommendation of municipal ownership of public utilities if contracts with privately owned companies cannot be satisfactorily worked out, Mayor F. A. Burkhardt will present his annual report to council Monday evening.

The mayor also points out that the want of commercial power is retarding the growth of the city, and urges prompt action in the development of street car, light and power franchises.

The mayor is not averse to granting a liquor rate for natural gas service, but recommends that if same is granted that the contract extend beyond September, the time of expiration of the present contract with the gas company by the city.

URGES STATE OF CITY HALL

The chief executive urges a refection of a public comfort station in the square, recommended the sale of the old city building and assembling of all city offices in the new safety building; that Main-st. be repaved temporarily unless property owners present a petition for improvement and that the water works be made subject to provisions of the fish and game laws of Ohio and designated by names commemorating the Indians.

Following is the full text of the mayor's annual report which he will read before council Monday evening:

THE MAYOR'S REPORT — The year just closed has been featured by unusual distinctive activities in our municipal affairs.

A retrospect of the year reveals a coordination of all branches of our city government for the public good and welfare. The questions of opposition that have presented have been to the extent only of developing the issues from all angles but not to the end of destructive bickerings. Meek acquiescence is more dangerous than a policy of rebuffs.

The administration has been seriously handicapped by want of finances and the state of the bond market as well as the attendant scarcity of prices affecting public improvements. This led to the suspension of many paving and other contracts. In spite of this there have been not worth several needed innovations worthy of laudable comment, chief of which is the successful installation of a most up-to-date housewiring lighting and with provisions for a complete system of provisions for street signs covering the entire city contract for which has been already entered; a street repair plant equipped with all classes of repair and maintenance already efficiently in service in a program of more extensive scope than ever undertaken in the city; provisions for two important and badly needed bridges for which plans have been made and contract about to be let; provision for the construction of a sewage disposal plant and intercepting sewers which when completed together with sewer construction, now in process will properly meet the needs of the city for several generations; effective steps taken to provide adequate sidewalks and their proper maintenance; the enactment of complete and effective traffic laws for the city; the enactment of due legislation establishing the effective prosecution of violators of the prohibition laws; taking all possible steps to create a planning commission to develop and planning needs of the

THE MIDDLE TEMPLE MURDER

BY J. S. FLETCHER

"A veritable Sleepy Hollow," mused Spargo. "Let's go down and see if there's anybody to talk to. Great Scott!—to think I was in the poisonous atmosphere of the Octon-cumeni only sixteen hours ago!"

Spargo, after looking himself in various corridors and passages, finally landed in a wide, stone-paved hall of the old hotel, and with a sure instinct turned into the bar-parlor which he had noticed when he entered the place.

This was a roomy, comfortable, bow-windowed apartment, looking out upon the high street and was furnished and ornamented with the usual appointments of country-town hotels. There were old chairs and tables and sideboards and cupboards which had certainly been made a century before, and seemed likely to endure to a century or two longer, there, and an old oil lamp and a pair of red-faced candles, painted in pink coats, there were foxes' masks on the wall, and a monster like in a glass case on a sideboard, there were ancient candlesticks on the mantel-piece and an antique snuff-box set between them. Also there was a small, old-fashioned bar in a corner of the room, and a new-fashioned young woman seated behind it, who was yawning over a piece of faded needlework and looking at Spargo when he entered as if she were a stranger.

"And Spargo, treating himself to a suitable drink and hoisting a glass to accompany it, noted the look, and dropped into the nearest chair.

"This," he remarked, eyeing the dame with inquiry, "appears to me to be a very quiet place."

"Quiet," exclaimed the lady. "That," continued Spargo, "is precisely what I observed. Quiet. I see that you agree with me. You expressed your agreement with two shades of emphasis, the surprised and the scornful. It may conclude, thus far, that the place is undoubtedly quiet."

The dame looked at Spargo as if she considered him in the light of a new specimen, and picking up her needlework she quitted the bar and coming out into the room took a chair near his own.

"It makes you thankful to see a general go by here," she remarked. "Is about all that one ever does see."

"Are there many?" asked Spargo. "Do the inhabitants do much of it?"

The dame gave Spargo another moral inspection.

"Oh, you're joking," she said. "It's not you can. Nothing ever happens here. This place is a back number."

"Even the back numbers make pleasant reading at times," murmured Spargo. "And the backwaters of life are refreshing. Nothing doing in this town, then?" he asked in a louder voice.

"Nothing," replied his companion. "It's fast asleep. I came here here in Birmingham, and I didn't know what I was coming to. In Birmingham you see as many people in ten minutes as you see here in ten months."

"Ah!" said Spargo. "What you are suffering from is dullness. You must have an antidote."

"Dullness!" exclaimed the dame. "That's the right word for Market Milcaster. There's just a few regular old customers drop in here of a morning, between eleven and one. A stranger caller looks in—perhaps—during the afternoon. Then, at night, a lot of old fogies sit round first of the room and talk about old times. Old times, indeed!—what they want in Market Milcaster are new times."

Spargo picked up his sears. "Well, but it's rather interesting to hear old folks talk about old times," he said. "I love it!"

"Then you can get as much of it as ever you want here," remarked the dame. "Look in tonight any time after eight o'clock, and if you could know more about the history of Market Milcaster by ten than you did when you set down, you must be deaf. There are some old gentlemen in a row, every night, regular as clockwork, who seem to feel that they couldn't go to bed unless they've told each other stories about old days which I should think they've heard a thousand times already."

"Very old men?" asked Spargo.

"Well, but it's rather interesting to hear old folks talk about old times," he said. "I love it!"

"Then you can get as much of it as ever you want here," remarked the dame. "Look in tonight any time after eight o'clock, and if you could know more about the history of Market Milcaster by ten than you did when you set down, you must be deaf. "Very old men?" asked Spargo.

"Methuselahs," replied the lady. "There's old Mr. Quarterpage, across the way there, the auctioneer, who he doesn't do any business now—they say he's ninety, the I'm sure you wouldn't take him for more than seventy. And there's Mr. Lummis, further down the street—he's eighty-eight. And Mr. Skene, and Mr. Kaye—they're regular patriarchs. I've sat here and listened to them till I believe I could write a history of Market Milcaster since the year One."

"I can conceive of that as a pleasant and profitable occupation," said Spargo.

He chatted a while longer in a fashion calculated to cheer the barmaid's spirits, after which he went out and strolled around the town until seven o'clock, the "Dragon's" hour for dinner. There were no more people in the big coffee-room than there had been at lunch and dinner, where he took his coffee in a corner near to that sacred part in which the old townsmen had been reported to him to sit.

"And mind you don't sit in one of their chairs," said the barmaid, warningly. "They all have their own special chairs and their special pipes there on that rack, and I suppose the ceiling would fall in if anybody touched pipe or chair. But you're all right there, and you'll hear all they've got to say."

Spargo, who had never seen anything of the sort before, and who, twenty-four hours previously, would have believed the thing impossible, the proceedings of that evening in the bar-parlor of the Yellow Dragon at Market Milcaster were like a sudden transference to the eighteenth century. Precisely as the clock struck eight and a bell began to toll somewhere in the recesses of the High Street, an old gentleman walked in, and the barmaid, catching Spargo's eye, gave him a glance which showed that the play was about to begin.

"Good evening, Mr. Kaye," said the barmaid. "You're first tonight."

"Evening," said Mr. Kaye and took a seat, scowled around him, and came silent. He was a tall, lank old gentleman, clad in rusty black clothes, with a pointed collar sticking up on both sides of his fringe of gray whiskers, and a voluminous black neckcloth folded several times around his neck, and by the expression of his countenance was inclined to look on life severely. "Nobody been in yet?" asked Mr. Kaye.

"No, but here's Mr. Lummis and Mr. Skene," replied the barmaid.

Two more old gentlemen entered the bar-parlor. Of these, one was a little, dapper-looking man, clad in clothes of an eminently sporting cut, and of very loud pattern.

He sported a bright blue necktie, a flower in his lapel, and a rakish white hat, which he wore at a rakish angle. The other was a big, portly, bearded man with a Falstaffian swagger and a rakish eye, who chafed the barmaid as he entered, and gave her a good-humored chuck under the chin as he passed her. These two sank into chairs which seemed also have been specially designed to meet them, and the stout man slapped the arms of his as familiarly as he had greeted the barmaid. He looked at his two cronies.

"Well!" he said. "Here's three of us. And here's a symposium."

"Wait a bit, wait a bit," said the dapper little man. "Grandpa'll be here in a minute. We'll start fair."

The barmaid glanced out of the window.

"There's Mr. Quarterpage coming across the street now," she announced. "Shall I put the things on the table?"

"Aye, out them on, my dear, put them on!" commanded the fat man. "Have all in readiness."

happy sort of way. He had turned on every light in the place and had the victrola going at top speed.

Fern and Gwendolyn laughed till the tears came at sight of him. And when he saw his daughter, Jim Channing took her in his arms and crushed her to him hungrily. "I've missed you, baby-girl, missed you terribly. So I simply had to jump on a train and come down and see you. Specially as your mother's been making it warm for me for the last twenty-four hours. I can tell you it was necessary for me to come and make sure for myself that you weren't on the downward path, like she seems sure you are, and all that. So here I am, and what a lovely place this is of yours, Fern," he said, turning from Gwendolyn.

Fern, and laughing as he confessed that he had been playing the victrola ever since she had left him.

"No wonder you like it here better than at home, Gwendolyn. It doesn't seem strange that you should, not at all. But come, sit on my knee, and be a little girl again, and tell me all about things. I'm crazy to hear everything you have to tell."

"And I'll run and get supper fixed while you two chat," said Fern, waving to them gaily, as she retired to the kitchenette.

JUST A GIRL

PLANS FOR A WEDDING

Jennie Wilcox had left the office, self ill she cried so terribly when a new girl was installed in her Mother asked her if she would like place. She was to be married in a month and had to do what she could to procure a modest trousseau. They were to be married at 1 o'clock, and take the 1:30 train for New York.

"It would be just like heaven," she sobbed. "I never thought I could be married in a real home like other girls."

"Come, now, stop crying and we'll make a list of those we are to invite," I said. "I tried to soothe her. 'There's Tom and Mary, Mr. Betts and you, and oh, you must have Bob'—the office boy—'he never would forgive you or Mr. Betts either if he wasn't invited. And who else, Jennie?'"

"Mr. Betts' brother, and one girl friend who has been good to me ever since I was old enough to work. And Mr. Clayton—we ought to ask him, don't you think?"

"Yes, you must ask him of course," Aunt Susan said. "I think his feelings would be hurt if you didn't. Then he seems to like my cooking, and as I am to cook the wedding breakfast I want him to come. I like that young man."

New Elixir, Called Aspironal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U. S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal—the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and ice, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass.

Quick watch in your hand, take the drink, sit on a chair, and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold melting away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When you cold or cough is relieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.—A.D.

THE LIGHT STANDARDS

OPINION appears to be divided as to the danger to the public of the boulevard light standards in the down-town district. The Ohio Electric has informed the city officials that there is every reason to believe that a short circuit makes them potential electrocution stations. City officials and councilmen declare there is no peril and have ordered the O. E. to continue to turn in current.

It is to be hoped that the beautiful new system, which everyone in Lima wants to see extended rapidly, will not be marred by defects. A serious accident resulting from the first link would discourage the building of more lights, altho there is no reason why they cannot be made safe. Other cities have long had such lights and have experienced no trouble as is feared here, by some at least.

If the present light standards are dangerous the flaw should be remedied immediately, no matter at what cost. The city cannot afford to have a constant menace in its business section.

PRIZEFIGHTING A BUSINESS

THE gentle art of prizefighting has become an established business. Young men with an inclination to do battle with their fellow man and who believe they are physically fitted for such a strenuous career are taking to it more today than ever before because of the big money it offers to top-notchers.

The grind to the peak is killing. A man must start at the very bottom and fight his way to the top. His chief assets are a good punch in either nite and a constitution that will allow him to take punishment together with sufficient science in the game to enable him to outclass his opponents.

One who aspires to high honors and big money in this particular business must attain his position early in life. Few are found in the big show much after 30 for the pace they must maintain has made them old men as leather pushing goes long before they would be considered as reaching their prime in any other business.

Too many young men are going in for prizefighting. Money is the lure and hundreds are disappointed. They give many of their best years to training and battling and in the end are failures when measured by the fight game standards. It is not a profession fathers should recommend to their sons.

CHECKING ACCIDENTS

MANY cities, confronted with an increasing number of accidents because of automobiles, have started educational campaigns. "What's Your Hurry?" is the slogan. They are seeking to teach both drivers of machines and pedestrians the necessity of care in the use of the streets.

Such a campaign in Lima probably would be beneficial. It is acknowledged that there is too much carelessness on the part of drivers here, and pedestrians are no less guilty of violating traffic regulations.

It is a common sight to see an automobile whiz past a busy corner at a dangerous rate of speed or persons jay-walking. Police are unable to see every act of drivers or those walking. A vigorously waged campaign to impress the dangerous results of reckless driving or walking—one is as bad as the other—is in order here.

MISS LIMA: "We are convinced that President-elect Harding is a super-man. A Marion dispatch says he keeps eight stenographers busy."

EDUCATION AND PROGRESS

THAT future national progress should be given an impetus by the results of the work of colleges and universities of the present, is quite apparent.

With more than 600,000 young men and women in the United States attending the colleges and universities at this time, at least one-half of one per cent of educational leaven should provide the necessary "kick" to progress.

The percentage will never be limited by legislative act and the nearer to 100 per cent the wine of national education can approach, the stronger the country will be.

Unlike industrial establishments, universities and colleges manufacture principally a state of mind. Facts are gathered and distributed and methods and systems of working are developed. But these are only auxiliary functions which many other institutions than colleges perform.

It is a peculiar function of the college to produce an attitude toward life which will conduce to a broader, deeper and better civilization. And in this, standard schools such as are possessed by Lima, are doing their great part in paving the way.

STOPPING REAPPRAISEMENT

ACTION by the state tax commission, rescinding its order for reappraisal of land values in 61 counties of Ohio, was very likely upon the recommendation of Governor James M. Cox, who pointed out to the commission the changing situation, the shifting of values and the unfairness of making new valuations at this time.

In accord with the recommendation of the Governor, the board changed front on the reappraisal order and designated certain days for hearings, that the general public may be given an opportunity to express its attitude.

This action puts the question of reappraisal up to the new incoming administration. The new legislature is now in session and Harry L. Davis becomes Governor next Monday.

While it is a fact that in the counties affected by the first order, for the most part, there was a considerable amount of objection voiced by landowners, it must be said that so far as Allen-co is concerned very little objection has been heard.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION

ATTENDANCE at school for 32 weeks each year will be made compulsory for all Ohio youths between six and 18 years of age, with certain exceptions, if the legislature acts with favor on proposed amendments to the school code which were submitted to the Ohio state teachers' association by T. S. Howard Whithers, inspector of teacher training in the state department of public instruction.

Exceptions from this requirement are granted in four instances. If the bodily or mental condition of the child prohibits attendance; if the child is taught at home by a qualified person; if local conditions necessitate fixing the beginning age at seven instead of six years, or if the pupil is between 16 and 18 and has permission to work.

The proposed amendments would require school attendance regardless of temporary residence in the state. This provision, it is said, is aimed at hundreds of Kentucky families which come to Ohio every year to work in the onion fields, bringing their children with them. They are in Ohio six months and Kentucky six months, escaping school requirements in both states.

YOUR NAME

HACKENSCHMIDT
VARIATIONS —Hackschmidt, Kupperschmidt, Stahlschmidt, Lautschmidt.

RACIAL ORIGIN — German.

SOURCE — Occupation.

Schmidt is almost as widespread a name in Germany as is Smith in English-speaking lands, and owing to the fact that German family names are of a somewhat later development than those of England, it has, perhaps a greater number of variations. In the course of time many of these variations were lost in England. Then, too, in some cases the corresponding English term never did exist as a family name.

The "hackschmidt" was the German maker of hoes, literally a "hoesmith."

Turning out the same product was the principal occupation of the "stahlschmidt" means "steel-smith" in agricultural communities, for "stahlschmidt" means "steel-smith." Hackschmidt looks as tho the original bearers of the name were what we would call blacksmiths, makers of horseshoes and fashions of iron. Such, however, was not the case. The "hackschmidt" was the counterpart of the English "tin-smith," a maker of tin utensils.

Kupperschmidt is a name which, translated into English, would be "coppersmith."

The "hurschmidt," or "hoof-smith" was the one who would be known as a "blacksmith" in English the maker and fitter of horseshoes. (Tomorrow —Newman)

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle. The best thing to use is Mulford's coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulford's at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulford's—Ally.

AUTODETOXICATION

So far as anybody has ever been able to prove, there is no such thing as autotoxification. The conception of autotoxification as a pathological entity is almost pure hypothesis, or, in less resounding language, the notion of autotoxification or self-poisoning (being poisoned by substances within the body) is just a theory, a little less plausible than the theory of evolution or the germ theory, a little more tangible than the theory of evolution, but, anyhow, it is a great deal more nebulous than the illogical notions of "liver complaint," "impure blood," "uric acid," and all those other old standbys of the Nos-tradamuses.

Assuming for the sake of argument that the theory of autotoxification is founded upon fact and that the body may be poisoned by abnormal substances produced when certain functions are disturbed, or by retention of the normal waste products when elimination is prevented or incomplete, it is still of the utmost importance for one's peace of mind to remember that all this does not refer to costiveness or constipation, and that in fact constipation is usually not a feature or factor of autotoxification. That is to say, the unpleasant symptoms which many introspective individuals experience if the usual daily evacuation is delayed can scarcely be ascribed to the absorption of retained

A LITTLE SLICE O' LIFE.

An eastern city health commissioner said the other day, in the paper, That smoking in the restaurants should be stopped forthwith. Because the smoke is very disagreeable to other people, And it would tend to help along The crusade against tobacco, And that would be a shame Because tobacco is a consolation To a great many men Who do brain work and follow Other sorts of labor.

We thought his argument good, And the next night, in a cafe, We saw a sweet young thing Puffing contentedly at A monogrammed cigarette. So we tried doc's system And went and told the young lady That she should not smoke

In a restaurant, and she said: "Why, you big boob—Huh! How do you get that way?" And she called her escort,

A college football hero, and said: "George, this bird has insulted me By advising me not to smoke. He is one of those reformers." The entire restaurant rose en masse And chased us far from the place. We still believe doc is right, But he'll have to do it alone.

We can hardly refer to it as an old-fashioned winter, with prices where they are.

PRICES OF FUR TRIMMED SUITS ARE NOW LOWER

BY ELOISE

Now is the time for the woman who has been longing for a costly fur-trimmed suit to purchase one for a fraction of what she would have paid a month ago. Fur-trimmed coats, suits and wraps are all selling now at greatly reduced prices and those women who have waited until now to invest in such garments will surely get their money's worth. There are still three months during which the suits will do much service, particularly in the north, to say nothing of a good suit with which to start next winter.

The suit pictured is a very smart, dress model and yet it is not extreme. It is simple and conservative, but with distinctive. It is fashioned of champagne colored broadcloth. The skirt is plain, but the coat has two long panels of horizontal pin tucks in the front and back and also over the hips. A sleek fur edges the coat and forms the collar. Note the extremely new belt.

Guests included just a few intimate friends and relatives of the honored guest.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Frances Colwell, Lima, office secretary of the Lima Y. W. C. A. to Raymond O. Gillett, Urbana. The marriage will be an event of the early spring.

The members of the Armistice club will meet with Mrs. C. R. Gordon, Wednesday afternoon.

TESTED RECIPES

Cookies—Cream one-half pint of shortening with one cup of sugar, add one egg well beaten, one-half pint sour milk, one-half each generous teaspoon of soda and baking powder; mix with as much flour as necessary, but handle as little as possible. Bake in a quick oven. This makes about fifty small cookies, but will keep very well if wrapped to prevent drying out.

Brain Cakes—Two cups of buttermilk, or sour milk, two level teaspoons soda dissolved in the milk, one and one-half cups flour and a handful of bran; a little salt, and a teaspoon of baking powder. Beat thoroughly and bake on a hot griddle. This is an economical recipe when eggs are so expensive.

Ginger Cookies—One cup sour milk, buttermilk or water, one egg, one cup sugar, one-half cup molasses, one cup shortening, two level teaspoons soda dissolved in the milk, a little cinnamon, a little ginger and a little salt. Fold in flour enough to mold so the dough will not stick to the board. Bake in a quick oven.

Banana Salad—Peel the bananas and scrape with a knife to remove the indigestible part of the fruit. Then quarter, placing three quarters on a lettuce leaf. Cover with mayonnaise dressing and sprinkle ground peanuts on top. This recipe is chosen because inexpensive and appropriate for any time of the year.

GOOD PIES

Modern Cranberry Pie—Wash a pound of cranberries and stew them in a pint of water until they are soft, then strain them. Add two full cups of sugar to the juice and cook five minutes, skimming carefully. Dissolve a tablespoon of powdered gelatin in a half cup of boiling water, pour into the juice and keep at the boiling point three minutes. Turn into a pie plate lined with crust and bake until the crust is done. Then allow the pie to cool and chill before serving.

Mrs. Elmer Roberts, N. Collett-st. entertained the members of the Five Hundred club at her home Friday afternoon. Mrs. P. A. Heislau and Mrs. Shurtlett held high score among the members and the guest prize was awarded to Mrs. Oliver Sullivan.

SUSIE SMART SAYS

Dear Miss Smart: I am a girl 19 years old and would like very much to go to the city and work. I am living with a good friend who gives me a good home and she allows me to stay in my own room. I have a lot of friends and I like to go to the city. I have a lot of friends and I like to go to the city. I have a lot of friends and I like to go to the city.

You are too young to start out for yourself in a city. You would undoubtedly have difficulty in finding work and would not be paid sufficiently to support yourself.

Dear Miss Smart: I have been going with a young man for quite a long time. About a month ago he started to go with a girl friend of mine. I did not go to see her often as he came to see me frequently.

"BIG TEN" BASKETBALL SEASON IS OPEN TONIGHT

WISCONSIN PLAYS NORTHWESTERN AT EVANSTON AS FIRST GAME OF SCHEDULE—INDIANA JOURNEYS TO COLUMBUS SATURDAY

MANY BIG GAMES SCHEDULED TO BE PLAYED IN MID-WINTER

CHICAGO.—With the opening of the Western Conference championship basketball season tonight, the quintette representing the University of Wisconsin looms up as the real "dark horse" of the 1921 race.

The Badgers are pinning their championship hopes on W. E. Meanwell, basketball coach, whose ability to develop fighting teams out of ordinary material is recognized throughout the "Big Ten."

In six years, from 1911 to 1916, Coach Meanwell turned out four championship teams for Wisconsin. There has been a scarcity of seasoned material in the Badger camp, however, Capt. Taylor at forward being the only outstanding player.

The Indiana Purdue five, which finished close to Chicago in the last season, will enter the field with its greatest asset—a high powered scoring combination. Tillson, Church and Campbell have produced, leaving "Red" White, a brilliant running guard, and Miller, a back guard, as the nucleus for this season's team.

In the last five years, no team in the "Big Ten" has won the title two years in succession, and if the developments into a tight struggle this season, and recent tradition is repeated, the championship will fall to another contender in the 1921 campaign.

TO PLAY TONIGHT

Wisconsin will take the field against Northwestern at Evanston Monday in the only game scheduled. The other teams will not swing into the race until next Saturday, when two games are to be played, bringing together Indiana and Ohio and Wisconsin and Michigan. The season will close March 11 with Northwestern meeting Iowa at Iowa City, one of the teams have scheduled twelve games, the limit set by the conference.

The schedule follows:

Jan. 3, Wisconsin vs Northwestern at Evanston.

Jan. 8, Indiana vs Ohio at Columbus.

BEG PARDON!

There is an error caused by the wrong name being placed on the boxing slip, it was stated in The News Sunday that the Kawanis boxing team swamped Staphington on Saturday on the Elk's new alley.

It was not the Kawanis team. It was the Kawanis boxing team that did the work on Mr. Staphington's alley, and they are every person in Lima to know that it was they who made the highest score of the season and not their rivals the Kawanis.

Tonight the Kawanis team will bowl the Kawanis team at the first game of a series, to determine the pin supremacy of the two civic clubs. For the next seven weeks, these two teams will bowl three games each Monday night at the Elk's alley.

ST. PAUL CLUB TO TRAIN IN KENTUCKY

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 31.—Tentative plans for spring training at Dawson Springs, Ky., have been made by the St. Paul club, one of the championship teams of the American Association. Manager Mike Kelley now is in Cuba, but upon his return January 15, the date for the opening of the training season will be fixed.

The personnel of the 1921 club is in doubt, according to Norton. At the close of the 1920 season, Manager Kelley disposed of Pitcher Cumbe and Hargrave, Third Basemen Igo and Pichers Griner and Browne. Cumbe and Hargrave went to Cincinnati, Igo was sold to the New York Nationals, and Griner and Browne went to the Memphis club in the Southern Association.

These sales will make it necessary for Kelley to procure several additional pitchers as well as an infielder or two good at his men.

Announcement is made of the release of Pitcher Kelley and Pitcher Raymond to the local club by the New York Nationals in part payment for Igo. Of last year's pitching staff, Hall, Merrill, Foster and Williams remain. Norton said Igo was out for three more first class pitchers, who will be able to carry the burden of the pitching with Hall and Merrill.

The infield, with the exception of third base, will be the same as last year, provided no holdovers develop. Dwyer at first base, B. Chamber at second, and Boone at short, are assured, with Frank Brazil, last year's utility player who fount well over the 300 mark, as a pinch hitter, available for third base.

The outfield will be intact, with Miller, Pichers and Haas back, and it is announced by Norton that none of these players is for sale. Duncum, another outfielder, declared at the close of last season that he would not play professional baseball this year, but a contract has been sent him.

Bob McMenamy, second string catcher, may be developed after the season of this year. McMenamy cannot hit with Hargrave, but when he comes in, is a long distance hitter. He works pitchers well and under some thing better than the average of Association catchers is found by Kelley, it is expected that the regular job will fall on his shoulders.

OHIO'S DEFEAT IS SURPRISE THRU EAST

(BY HENRY L. FARWELL)

NEW YORK.—As one of its first real acts, the infant 1921 chirped the California yell.

With the rolling ground of the past year, there rolled into the ranks of the football great, a twin infant, California, by her decisive defeat of Ohio State, takes a place with Princeton, Penn State, Pittsburgh and Notre Dame as the very best teams of the season.

EAST IS SHOCKED

To the east, in its broadest geographical application, the defeat of the Buckeyes was a distinct surprise. The weapon used in the downfall of the western conference champions was a revelation.

Outside of Coach Jack White and his squad, perhaps no one expected California to steal Ohio's favorite weapon—the forward pass and show them how it should be done.

White told the writer recently here, that Ohio wasn't going to be fooled into believing that California's offensive was all built around a "tank."

KNOWS FORWARD PASS

"Andy Smith knows as much as anyone about the forward pass. He's not fooling us when he says, 'he's got up against a new game,'" he said.

If Ohio was expecting an air attack, all the more credit is due California for the east team had a perfect defense against Ohio State's offense and the Buckeyes were helpless before the long passes of the accurate Brick Muller.

True, Ohio State did lose by some breaks. Two fumbles in the first period started the California machine.

Ohio seemed not only to be tied when it came to stopping the pass, but the line showed weak at the ends.

There was a flock of alibis—the hot weather, the long trip, the strange food, the antichinx, etc. But most pleasant was the statement of Coach White and his men that "the better team won."

ORGANIZE NEW BASKETBALL TEAM HERE

As a New Year's undertaking, a new professional basketball team has recently been organized here which promises to develop into a fast squad within the next few weeks.

No name has yet been selected for the outfit, which is composed of former high school players and professional men. They are wanting games with class AA teams in this section of the state, and would like to soon book Co. F of Spencerville and Co. K of St. Marys for practice games before looking up with stronger aggregations.

The players are: Harold Baxter, former White Star player and a fast forward; Joe Hyer, Central III's sensational player of last year; Elmer Cowan, a better man and a former star of the Sandusky Hi team; Paul Durbin, a member of Central III team in 1918; and "Slim" Seales, a former Ada Hi player.

STATE BASKET TEAM PLAYS PRINCETON

COLUMBUS, Ohio State will meet Princeton in basketball here tonight in spite of the fact that several of the Buckeye's star floor men are in California with the football team. Princeton is expected to get a hard battle.

With better on Saturday night, beat Princeton 23 to 16, while Ohio State was recently defeated by the Panthers 27 to 26.

DEMPSEY IS HARDEST PICK TENNIS STARS AFTER BIG MEET

NEW YORK.—"If you want my opinion," remarked Leo Flynn, manager of Bill Brennan, "Jack Dempsey is the hardest-hitting heavyweight the ring ever knew and the greatest fighter I ever saw."

"When Dempsey goes out against some of the other heavyweights you'll see what a great champion he is and then maybe for the first time you'll all give Bill Brennan the credit he deserves. I think Carpenter will be soft for Dempsey, and if he ever fights Harry Wills I'll have a good sized bet on him to win."

"That's pretty good, isn't it, coming from the manager of the man he knocked out?"

Flynn couldn't have said anything more flattering about the world's heavyweight champion, but he did add that in his opinion Dempsey is not going back.

Taking it by and large Flynn might have been expected to say just what he did, for the better Dempsey looks the better Brennan looks. Everything considered, but Flynn can't say so. He believes in Brennan with all his heart and Dempsey, therefore made a believer out of him.

The question of Dempsey's condition, which has been the subject of much discussion since the Brennan fight, is still being argued pro and con, but it will not be solved to the satisfaction of the boxing public till the champion comes out and shows himself against Willard and Carpenter.

GOOD FOR BUSINESS

The writer has opined in previous articles that it was good business for Dempsey to knock Brennan out in twelve rounds instead of finishing earlier. Whether or not Dempsey let Brennan stay that long purely for business reasons, we do not know. Manager Jack Kearney admitted to us after the fight that the length of the bout was "good in some respects" for Dempsey, but he added that Jack was too badly conditioned.

We have known Dempsey, since long before he became a champion, and if he was in real condition the night he fought Brennan then our judgment of what condition should be has been wrong all the time. Dempsey was pale and drawn. He was as nervous as a hypodermic needle. He trembled as he stood with Brennan while the camera man "shot" the pair, and he was cold as ice waiting in his corner for the battle to start. All he had on in addition to his ring costume was a Turkish towel wrapped around his shoulders, and he folded it close around him and shivered. He looked about as comfortable as a house cat sitting on a cake of ice.

Noting all this the writer was not so greatly surprised when the big boy failed to spring from his corner like the tiger he has always been and proceed to annihilate him in a few rounds. Come to think it over, it took Dempsey about four rounds to get properly warmed up. He was hitting Brennan hard and often in the chest and he was swiftness in a long shot at times. But his judgment of distance was bad, and as Brennan kept carrying the fight to him he

NEW YORK.—William T. Tilden, Philadelphia, British and American national champion, his partner, William M. Johnston, San Francisco, who wrested the Davis cup from Australia, are the two best tennis players in the United States, according to the report of the ranking committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, which made public here Saturday night.

The "first ten" picked by Abraham Brasseur, Jr., Walter McGrath, Hall, Samuel Hardy, Nathaniel W. Niles, Paul W. Gibbons and R. F. Woods, comprising the ranking committee, are:

CHICAGO WILL HAVE 6-DAY BIKE RACE

CHICAGO.—Chicago is to have a six-day bicycle race starting January 14, it was announced here Monday by George Young, promoter. Twelve teams will be entered and the star racers already have signed. They are Ray Eaton, Harry Kaiser, Willie Keller, Alphonse Verrano and others. Popularity of the six-day race in New York, where a total of 25,000 persons turned out during the course of events, caused the promotion of the race here.

RAPID - FIRE HITS AT ORPHEUM

Unstinted Praise Given Bill at Vaudeville House

"OLD DAD" IS NOTHING BIG

An Interesting Story. Tho—Directory of Movies

(BY ESTHER WAGNER)
GENTLY interesting is the program of six vaudeville acts being shown at the Orpheum the first of this week. Each and every act is novel and all six of them are "p-dive hits."

One of the most "humorous acts" I have ever seen at the Orpheum and about the best on the bill this time, is the offering of Mohr and Eldridge. These two young men manage to keep the audience in one continuous uproar, and their voices are splendid. "Dancing as is dancing" is the offering of Thomas and the Frederic. The sisters are quite beautiful, singing a little and have clever dance numbers; the young man, Thomas, dances so—oh, give you should see him dance! Carl Harper & Co. presenting a variety of the best offerings of the "Some" and comedy by a variety of comedians is featured and a most humorous climax leaves you laughing at the next act. Rose and Tel. have songs, dances and a variety of acts on a bicycle.

to amuse you and provide good entertainment at all times. Walter Kragold are extra fine and at the performances on Sunday won encore after encore. The opening act, a combination of witty sayings and dexterity, is bound to please you. Patrons will want to see this program—those of you who haven't the vaudeville habit should get it and this program is a fine one to begin on. Every act is a winner. If you don't believe me, ask someone else. The names of the principals may not be in order, because the writer has no program to quote from, but what's a name, as long as their stuff's good?

"Old Dad"

THE press sheets and advance notices of "Old Dad" would have you believe that it is a smashing big hit, a big sensation; startling in its realism, and a few other things. "Old Dad" is just an interesting little story of a girl, raised in boarding school, who gets expelled because of a narrow episode, misunderstanding of course, by the matron. Her father was almost an unknown quantity to her; her mother, a great singer, was a stranger to her. The rogue in the case (Irving Cummings) lives next door to the Brittons. And when he looks upon innocent little Daphne he at once decides that she will be his. The young college chap who was the cause of her ignominious dismissal from school, however, is the chosen one and wins her in the end. You know he would.

The college scenes show the usual bevy of laughing girls, a number of good looking young men are utilized in the dancing scenes, and the old matron is as deadly and icy as you would want her.

"Old Dad" tells a fine little story in a nice well-balanced way. It's showing at the Regent.

One Moment's Thought

Have you considered the High Class of Entertainment extended to the patrons of the Sigma Theatre under the management of Chas. Deardourff?

You receive the same class of Film Production which are exhibited in such theatres as Capitol, New York City; the Riviera, Chicago; the Stillman, Cleveland; the Madison, Detroit; also the same high class Singing Artists employed in Capitol, N. Y.; Riviera, Chicago; Madison, Detroit; in fact you receive the very best entertainment at approximately half the admission price of the larger cities.

The SIGMA, from the present, will exhibit the highest class productions and very best Special Acts shown in Lima.

Our Orchestra, conducted by Mrs. B. L. Flinn, surely deserves credit as being One of the Best small Orchestras playing pictures in any theatre; in fact, we receive constant compliments relative to our music.

Mr. Morga, who plays our magnificent Hope-Jones Pipe Organ, was one of Cleveland's most noted organists and should be appreciated as he ranks among the best in Ohio.

Our Theatre is practically Fire-Proof—Exits, ample to empty theatre in TWO MINUTES. Consider what this might mean to Patrons.

Our Theatre has a complete change of air every SIX minutes, making it almost impossible to contract Disease. WORTH A THOUGHT, is it not? We have attempted to give Lima ONE Theatre which ranks among the finest in Ohio. We are now playing the Best Pictures, Highest class Special Acts, with music worth your appreciation.

Our projection room is among the most modern of the country. Absolutely fire proof, two new and modern Simplex Motion Picture Machines, with latest idea in generators to control the electricity, manned by two competent operators, the Sigma projection has been pronounced by experts as being among the best to be had in practical equipment.

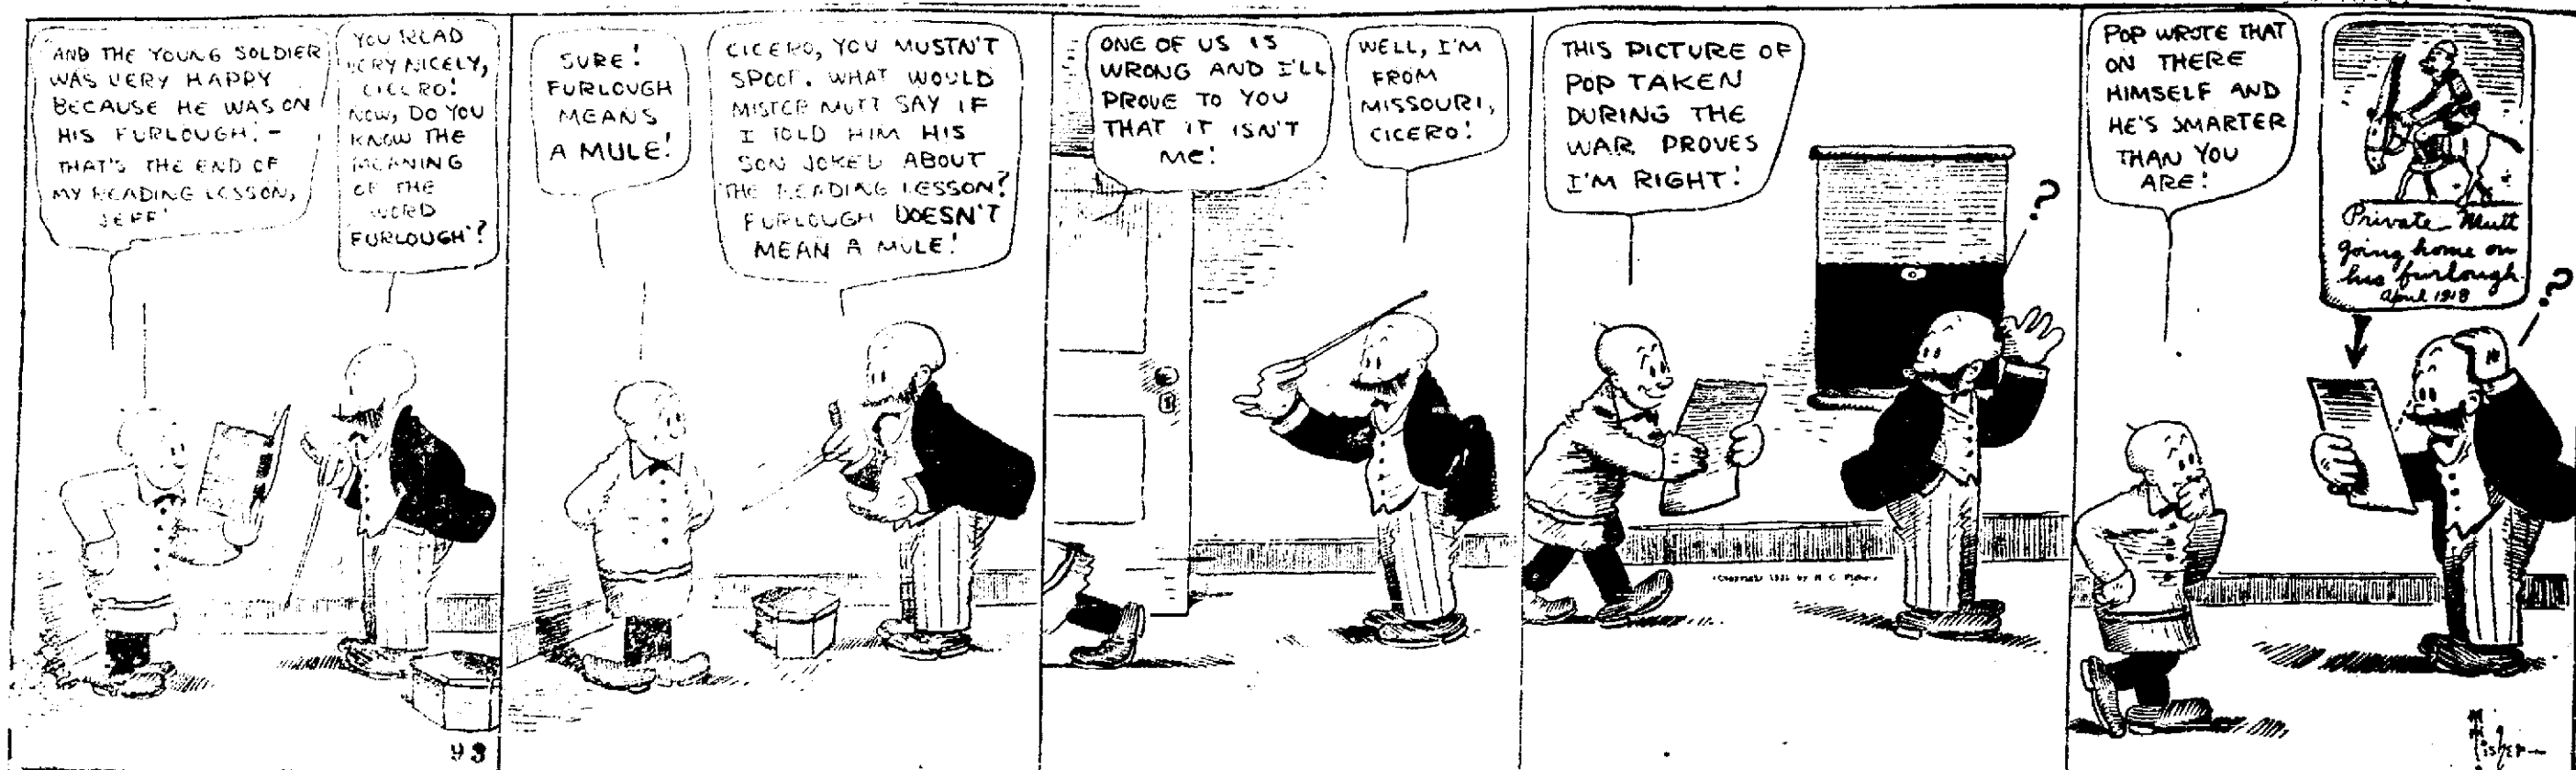

We invite criticism as your opinion spells our Success or Failure.

Secretary Sigma Theatre Company.

SHORT SHAVINGS

They had been out together the night before, and I was comparing notes in the morning.

"I had a rotten time," confessed Smith. "The music played me for half an hour. How did you get on?" Jones groaned miserably. "You got off lightly," he said. "You don't know what it is like being married to a woman who has been a school teacher. She didn't say much, but she made me sit up 'till I had written out 'I must be home very night by 10 o'clock' two times on the slip."

Little Mary, who was just three years old, came home all excited. "Mother," she said, "the new people moving next door wash clothes in a stove."

"Why, my child, who ever told you that?" replied the mother. "The moving man said so. He was taking a funny looking stove in the house and I asked 'im what it was. He said it was a laundry stove."

"You know," said the fat, plump man, "living in a great city must give a fellow an odd start at things."

"What odd that notion into your head?" the thin carpenter inquired. "My cousin, who lives in New York was visiting me last week."

"Yes."

"One evening I was reading in the paper about a family reunion in the country."

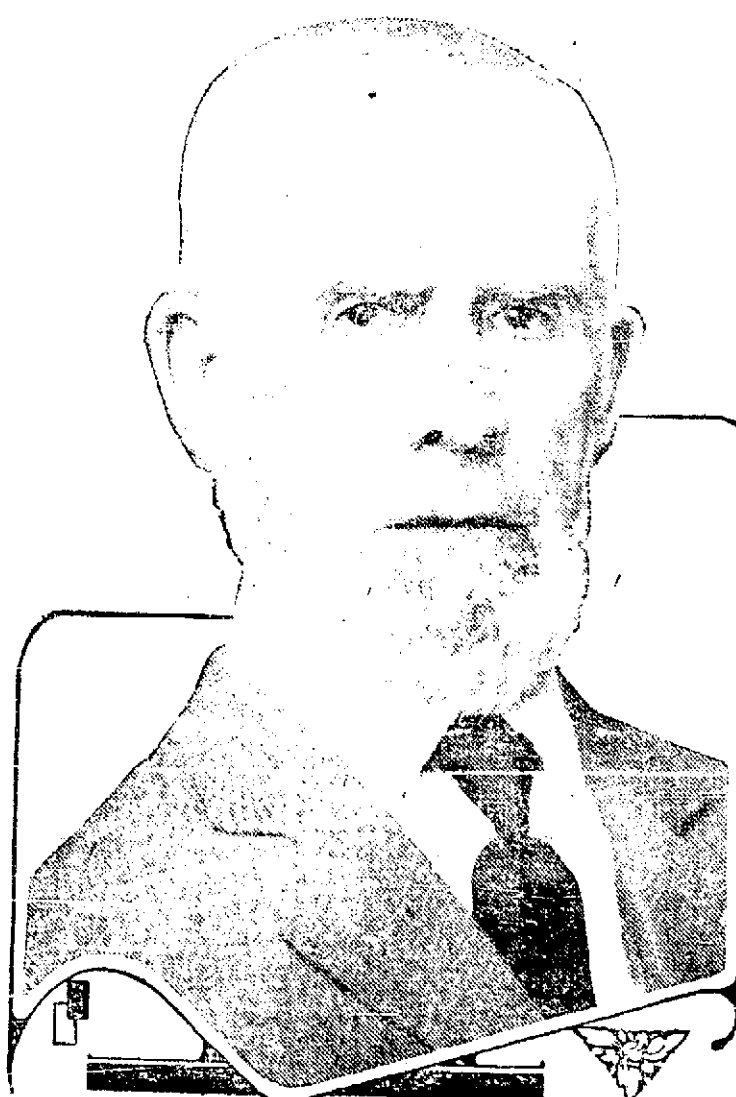

"Yes."

"At that reunion they had a pump-pin pin five feet in diameter."

Quaker Minister Is Grateful to Tanlac

Rev. Parker Moon, Carthage, Missouri.

Nearly everybody in Carthage, Missouri, either knows or has heard of the Rev. Parker Moon, who for a full half century has been a well known and talented Sunday school and organization worker for the Society of Friends or Quakers. He resides at 628 Howard Avenue, Carthage, Mo.

"Uncle Parker," as he is more familiarly known, came from time old rugged Quaker stock, and there is not a better known or more highly respected citizen in that part of the state. In referring to his remarkable restoration to health by Tanlac, he said:

"About five years ago I suffered a general breakdown. My principal trouble was no energy, indigestion. My appetite was very poor and my food seldom agreed with me. I had to live on a very restricted diet. I suffered a great deal from headaches and dizzy spells. I had severe pains across the small of my back and was badly constipated most of the time. In fact, I was so weak and rundown I was unable to attend to my duties. This condition made me very nervous and I could not sleep at night. Frequently I would lie awake most of the night and was in this condition more or less for five years. My physician said he could not do anything for me and suggested a change of climate. I then moved to Texas and went back and forth three times but did not get the relief I had hoped for. Finally, I got so bad off I was not able to get around with any degree of comfort. I was also told I had heart trouble."

"I read about Tanlac and, as it had been very highly recommended to me, I decided to try it. I got a bottle and had taken only a few doses until I could notice a marked improvement in my condition. I noticed especially that I was not troubled any more with sour stomach after eating, which was a great relief."

"I kept on taking Tanlac until I fully regained my health. My appetite is splendid. I enjoy my meals and I do not find it necessary now to take any laxative medicines of any kind. I can sleep much better and am not nearly so nervous."

"I take great pleasure in recommending Tanlac to anyone who needs a good system builder, or who suffers with stomach trouble. I have recommended Tanlac to a great many of my friends and am pleased to reach others by giving this statement for publication."

"Tanlac is sold in Lima at Hunter's Drug Store and the leading drug-gists in every town."

PAULS — Senator McCormick arrived here Monday after completing a journey thru all capitals of mid-Europe. He was received in most of them as an unofficial representative of President-elect Harding.

Poisoned by Thousands

Backache of any kind is often caused by kidney disorder. Poisonous matter and uric acid accumulate within the body in excess, overworking the sick kidneys, hence the congestion in the head causes headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish, irritable, have spots appearing before the eyes, and lack ambition to do things.

Simply ask your druggist for "An-uric" (anti-uric acid) Tablets if you aren't feeling up to the standard. Salineville, Ohio—"I have used Dr. Pierce's An-uric Tablets with good results for pain in back and sides, and would recommend them to anyone suffering with kidney trouble."

DO YOU CATCH COLD EASILY?

Your Vitality is Low—Resistance Weak

YOU NEED PEPTO-MANGAN

Rich, Red Blood Will Strengthen You and Put You on Your Feet—Able to Resist Colds

Your system naturally should never catch cold. Your body is adjusted to take care of a million changes in the weather.

It is when you are run down and your vitality is low that your body cannot adjust itself. Then you take cold.

If you keep your blood in good condition, with plenty of red corpuscles, you will be sure that your body will easily adjust itself to sudden changes. You might as well let the cold germs that are floating into the air when you come out with a cold sneeze.

Red-blooded men, women, and children eat well. They have plenty of energy. They go about with a smile because they feel right.

Try Pepto-Mangan, the success tonic. It is a wonderful blood builder. Take it for awhile till you feel right.

Pepto-Mangan is widely and heartily endorsed by physicians. It is of festive and easy to take. It is prepared in both liquid and tablet form. The medicinal properties are the same.

Sold at any drug store. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan—"Gude's." Ask for it by name, and be sure the full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," is on the package.
